

Positive control: the harness recovers the partition from the latent volatility and loses it at the standard proxy, localizing the failure to the feature

